APICS Fun Fact

"Bill in Supply Chain sure regrets the day he said to sales 'Then why don't you show me how it's done?'"

Message from the Board of Directors

Friends and Colleagues,

What are the benefits of an APICS membership? Besides being 1 of 40,000 members worldwide, it offers a variety of education, certification, and endorsement programs to enhance your professional career and improve your organization's bottom line. With APICS you will gain a deeper understanding of the Supply Chain Management field and update your knowledge with insights into emerging topics and explorations into existing practices through ASCM publications and industry content.

APICS offers two levels of membership - Core and Plus. Core membership offers access to all member benefits, including resources, publications and more. The Plus membership offers all the Core membership benefits plus discounts on APICS certifications. APICS also has discounts for these membership types if you are a full-time student (free membership), Young Professional (up to two years after being a full time student), active duty military, and academic professional.

When you become a member of APICS, you are also supporting your local chapter. APICS will give each local chapter a quarterly rebate to help support and finance the local chapter. This rebate is based on a members LUM calculation. LUM stands for Length of Uninterrupted Membership. The longer a person has been an APICS member in consecutive years, the higher percentage of rebate the local chapter will receive. This helps the chapter engage and develop the membership.

If you are an APICS member, we thank you for your support. If you are not a member, we ask that you consider the benefits of APICS membership knowing that it will help you grow and also support the local APICS chapter - whose mission is to help members and organizations build a stronger economy.

Thank you for your continued support!

Mark Habighorst

VP of C-Bar
